

"How do I know what you know?"

Getting the Most Out of Examining for the College

Examiner Education sessions at College Science Week

Presented by

Associate Professor Glen Coleman

Associate Professor Glen Coleman was a graduate of The University of Queensland Veterinary School in 1987 and practised for several years in Townsville, the United Kingdom and South East Queensland. In 1995 he was appointed lecturer in veterinary parasitology. In 2005 he received a UQ Excellence in Teaching Award and in 2007 he was the recipient of a Carrick Award for Australian University Teaching. He currently supervises three higher degree research students working on various aspects of veterinary education. Among his current projects is an Australian Learning and Teaching Council funded project on Assessment Policy and how it impacts upon practice. He is Deputy Head of School of Veterinary Science and Associate Dean, Academic for the Faculty of Natural Resources, Agriculture and Veterinary Science at The University of Queensland.

AUSTRALIAN COLLEGE OF VETERINARY SCIENTISTS

A Plenary Lecture and Follow-on Interactive Workshop

to help College Examiners feel more confident, get the most out of candidates and have pride in examining

Plenary Lecture:

"How do I know what you know?"

The Roles and Rewards of being a College Examiner

8-9 am Thursday 1 July

Hamilton Room, Gold Coast International Hotel

Follow-on Interactive Workshop:

Getting the Most out of Examining for the College

9am– 12.30pm Thursday 1 July

Hamilton Room, Gold Coast International Hotel

Topics to be covered:

- How to best assess the subject's Learning Outcomes
- How to facilitate candidates showing their knowledge
- How to write examination questions
- How to use marking schemes
- Ways to improve oral exam technique

The Plenary Lecture and Workshop are FREE OF CHARGE and open to current, past and future College Examiners, Chapter Examination Committees plus anyone interested.

These presentations will be relevant, engaging, inspiring, fun, effective and able to be understood.

For further information: please contact

Mrs Elaine Lowe, College Manager, on 07 3423 2016 or admin@acvs.org.au

Examiner Education: An initiative of the Board of Examiners

